NORTH ADAMS — Eight Berkshire County high school students were recently recognized for their participation in the Northern Berkshire 2020 Summer Youth Works Program at Drury High School in a ceremony that took place with social distancing. Unlike in previous years when students received paid internships, this year's program consisted of a seven week virtual gardening program.

This year's participants included:

Ashlyn Belisle, Camryn Belisle and Molly Boyer of McCann Technical School;

Abby Bird, Vernon Lewis, Talia Rehill and Hannah Shea of Hoosac Valley High School; and Madison Helm of Mount Greylock Regional High School.

The Berkshire Workforce Board partnered with Greenagers and North Adams' Growing Healthy Garden program on this year's project. All vegetables harvested were delivered to the Berkshire Food Project.
